

Bilingual Edition Spanish/English

Being aware of the need to broaden the area of influence and the impact of the works published in Doxa Comunicación, the journal has launched a bilingual Spanish/English edition of all published scientific articles and essays, starting with issue No. 23 (November 2016) of the journal. The printed version is available only in Spanish, but the online edition will be published in a bilingual Spanish/English edition.

In the event that a paper successfully passes the external blind peer review, the author agrees to provide Doxa Comunicación with an English version of the text. The cost of this service will be borne by the author.

English translations must be consistent and of high quality, and as such, if the authors cannot do the English translation themselves, Doxa Comunicación will facilitate the contact information of a professional translator with whom Doxa Comunicación works on a regular basis.

All English texts will be proofread prior to publication. In the case of deficient or poor translations, the author will be asked to either correct the translated text or to entrust the journal to make the corrections, in which case the cost of the revision will be paid for by the author.
